"Certifiably Green" Means You Can Buy With

 ACS is the first and only manufacturer to achieve UL (Underwriter's Laboratory) Certification ensuring full compliance that all pads produced contain 100% Recycled Post Consumer PET Fiber primarily from plastic bottles.

We see other companies making marketing claims about being Green, however, ACS is Certifiably Green!

*The first and only
UL certified ECO Friendly
Floor Pad and Hand Pad line.*

 Other companies claim that their pads will biodegrade. Even if this were true, which it is really not, we all know that these pads will remain in the environment for extremely long periods of time once thrown away. Biodegradability to the molecular level is unachievable. The State of California will not allow this claim and there are a number of other states in line to eliminate this biodegradability claim as well.

A selection of our high speed floor pads are manufactured with up to 80% natural hair fibers which actually do biodegrade.

Confidence In Our Rigorous Green Certifications

 UL is a global independent safety science company with more than a century of expertise innovating solutions. With UL's environmental claim validations, products come armed with independent third-party confirmation of their compliance with various green codes, standards, and procurement policies including:

The Leed® Green Building Rating System, GSA Advantage®, ASHRAE 189.1 and more. This helps product visibility among key specifiers while driving marketplace demand. This is not a certification service.

Because these environmental claim validations are booked by UL, one of the world's most trusted names in product safety and certification, customers can feel empowered, and can make more informed purchasing decisions that help counter the green washing claims.

 ACS is an ISO 9001 Certified Company adhering to International Standards of this documented quality system. Not only will you receive the Green Products you require but you will also get dependable consistent product quality that your customers expect.

 To meet UL Certification our Manufacturing Plant goes through an annual audit of documents back to origin fiber, internal processes of compliance and material routing specifications to each and every pad sold.

We chose the UL & ISO 9001 certifications because of their rigorous standards and our own commitment to the environment.
